VICE-PRESIDENT, ASSET STRATEGIES

A Vancouver-based role for an innovative thinker with a strong entrepreneurial attitude to make a powerful impact on the landscape of BC's social housing

With a mandate to combine sustainability with a province-wide strategic business model for the re-development and maintenance of social housing properties, this position presents a rare leadership opportunity in providing direction in the improvement of social housing in British Columbia.

A key member of the executive team, you can make a powerful impact on BC's social housing, especially where capital stock has outlived its useful life or is underutilized. You will lead the assessment of properties and the planning/management of multi-year projects including: • collaboration on tenant relocation strategies • re-development of properties (encompassing negotiations with architects, engineers and developers, etc.) • leasing of land and building space. You will also provide strategic, operational and team leadership within your Branch and ensure that BC Housing contributes to the government's green initiative by reducing carbon emissions in the construction, refit and upgrades to new and existing buildings.

Your extensive knowledge of the theories, strategies and practices pertaining to the planning, design, construction and re-development of multiple unit residential housing is founded on a degree in social or urban planning, public administration or a related discipline and significant expertise in planning and managing the development and construction of multi-residential projects. Equipped with superior business acumen and judgement, you are a born problem-solver, a strong champion of development solutions and adept at fostering positive working relationships with governments, community agencies, the construction industry and other stakeholders in planning and implementing housing developments.
