"This is an attractive place for IT specialists – we're really moving forward with new technology, new systems and new processes, and it's all based on implementing ideas that will help the organization."

*Lawrence C
Manager, Business Application Services*

Since I've been with BC Housing, my role has been changing. There's lots of growth opportunity here, and all of us are encouraged to walk that path.

BC Housing has a great reputation, but when I signed on to work here, I didn't realize how really far-reaching our good name is. This is an attractive place for IT specialists – we're really moving forward with new technology, new systems and new processes, and it's all based on implementing ideas that will help the organization. The work we do in IT changes the way things are done, which helps the organization change people's lives for the better.

What we're doing here is really far-reaching. Leading-edge technology is coming down the pipe – that's what we're looking forward to.
