

BC HOUSING

Emergency Services and Support for Communities

BC Housing works in partnership with private, non-profit and co-operative sectors, provincial health authorities and ministries, other levels of government and community groups to deliver a range of housing solutions. In an emergency, these support programs provide short and long-term solutions to assist residents and communities in British Columbia.

Support for Individuals and Families

1. Rental Subsidies:

- a. Subsidies can be provided to homeowners, renters, seniors, families, and persons with disabilities:
 - i. Rental Assistance Program (RAP): provides a rent supplement to eligible low-income working families renting in the private market to help with their monthly rent payments.
 - ii. Shelter Aid for Elderly Renters (SAFER): provides a rent supplement to eligible lower income seniors renting in the private market to help with their monthly rent payments.
 - iii. Home Adaptations for Independence (HAFI): a grant for people with diminished physical abilities to pay for modifications to make their home accessible; available to eligible homeowners and tenants.

2. Rental Housing:

- a. Subsidized and market rental and co-operative housing, typically unfurnished, may be available for seniors, families or persons with a disability, in communities throughout the province.
- b. Private market rental housing landlords can be contacted by a recovery or resiliency centre and asked to advise of any vacant rental space which could be made available to evacuees.

3. Emergency Shelter Program:

- a. In some communities, Year-round, Temporary, and Extreme Weather shelters (when a community issues an Extreme Weather Alert based on their Extreme Weather Response Plan during November and March) provide support to vulnerable individuals or families with a diverse range of needs and abilities.

4. Homeless Outreach and Homeless Prevention Programs:

- a. In some communities, engage people where they are situated, such as living in public places, in a shelter, or in a temporary location, to help people who experience homelessness or are at risk of homelessness. Maximum income limits apply.
- b. In some communities, provide temporary rental supplement assistance primarily to people who are not able to make the complete payment for their housing needs.

Support for Communities

5. Emergency Lodging Supplies:

- a. BC Housing cots and blankets, stored in various locations around British Columbia, can be deployed and coordinated along with those of other organizations to group lodging locations.

6. Building Damage Assessment:

- a. Trained personnel can be coordinated and deployed to assist in assessing buildings impacted by floods or earthquakes.
- b. Training and coordination assistance can be provided to communities and organization to run their own damage assessment program.
